Sixteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

RENEWAL

The Franciscan Renewal Center • A Community of the Franciscan Province of Saint Barbara

5802 East Lincoln Drive • Scottsdale, Arizona 85253 • Phone 480.948.7460 • thecasa.org

There are somewhere between 230 and 250 million Christians in the United States, and yet we live in a time more divisive than I have seen in my 50 years. As we are often reminded by media, whether on the television or the web, we live in an era of a very strained social discourse. In almost every avenue of our lives, we can see a growing polarization that leaves people unwilling even to try to begin to understand those that don't think, feel, and act like themselves. I have often experienced that though we might know a thing, that thing may not play a part in our lives until something happens to remind us of its relevance.

For me, the responsorial psalm for this Sunday is one of those reminders.

It speaks of a person who;
 thinks the truth in the heart,
 slanders not with his tongue,
 harms not his fellow man,
 does not reproach their neighbor,
 one who accepts no bribe against the innocent.

All of these things we are called to do as Christians, and in doing so, we are told we will live in the presence of the Lord. How wonderful it is that we can do so little as not to be a jerk and gain so much. Although such a small thing, it seems that of late, fewer and fewer of the people of God have been listening to those things that we know we are called to as Christians. Let us together truly listen to and do what we are called to do as God's people; let us be what this Sunday's responsorial psalm calls us to be.

Hospitality: everyone's responsibility

*“Do not neglect hospitality, for through it some have unknowingly entertained angels.”
(Hebrews 13:2)*

You've heard it said that “All are welcome at the Casa!” It is true—and we mean it. We hope that each person who enters through our doors feels like they have just come home.

But “welcome” and “hospitality” are not the same thing. Creating a hospitable environment is a task that belongs to all of us. Instinctively, we already know how to do this. It's often the little things:

1. Smiling and greeting one another, generously!
2. Holding doors open for people behind you
3. Sliding over in the pews to make room—and doing it willingly (not begrudgingly)
4. Helping visitors find water fountains, restrooms or the changing tables for babies
5. Encouraging visitors to stay hydrated while visiting Arizona
6. Encouraging guests to learn more about the Casa at a “Discover the Vision” tour or a church art & architecture tour
7. Inviting visitors to return to Mass at the Casa
8. Inviting others to join you for refreshments after Mass
9. Staying after Mass and mingling; making new friends and acquaintances
10. Looking out for people who are sitting alone; maybe sitting with them or inviting them to sit with you; helping them feel they belong here

Pope Francis reminds us to be joyful witnesses.
May our lives and our hospitality reflect the joy we find in Jesus!

Gospel Reflection for Parents

What do you think about Martha's and Mary's role in today's Gospel? Sometimes when we hear the Gospel, we have difficulty getting around the social norms of Jesus' time. It seems like we cannot relate to this situation which can feel so foreign to us. One way we might consider this situation is through the boundaries or social expectations placed on Martha and Mary, as well as our own today.

At the time of Jesus' visit, women cleaned, cooked, and served their guests, which is why Martha gets angry about Mary's behavior. Why is Mary acting outside of what is expected of her? Why is she sitting there listening to Jesus just like one of his followers? Women can't be disciples of Christ. Of course, Jesus breaks through this barrier for us. All of us can be followers of Christ!

Why does this matter for us today? Our society is very different than when Jesus was here. Yet, we still have boundaries and social norms we follow. Think beyond gender. What other ways are we "expected" to behave at work or school? With friends or family? How do these keep us from following Jesus at all times of our lives? Think about practical ways we can break through these boundaries and show that we, too, can be a follower of Jesus. — Cheryl Hentz, Youth & Young Adult Minister

SEPTEMBER IS

Mark your calendar. Future bulletins will offer ways for you to be involved in Hunger Action Month.

Here is what we know, Summer 2022: Just as inflation is hitting so many families with increases in rent, gas and food prices, some of the federal programs in place during the Covid pandemic are ending. In the past month, St. Mary’s Food Bank is seeing an increase in the number of families coming to the food bank, and it’s created something of a perfect storm in terms of need. <https://www.firstfoodbank.org/2022/05/inflation/>

The Seraphic Doctor
Man of Good Fortune
Contemporary of Aquinas

Christ has something in common with all creatures. With the stone he shares existence, with the plants he shares life, with the animals he shares sensation, and with the angels he shares intelligence. Thus all things are transformed in Christ since in the fullness of his nature he embraces some part of every creature.

Reflection:

There is a saying repeated in liturgy and in our Catholic daily lives that “God is love.” What does that mean to you and in the work you do?

Background: Known as the “Seraphic Doctor” because of his his love for God and his theological writings, as well as his being a true follower of St. Francis, he brought the warmth and affection of Francis’ love of Jesus to bear on the scholastic thought of his day. His incarnational and thus Franciscan approach was to reflect on the practical aspects of life and see how they interacted with the insights of faith.

We've been coming to the Casa for many years for outdoor Christmas and Easter Masses. We moved down the street in 2016, and my husband Mike and I knew it was time for our family to become registered members of this incredible church community where we always feel at home.

I really wanted to become more involved at the Casa and asked Randy at the guest services desk how I could volunteer. He recommended giving time at the guest services desk. I'm here on Thursdays, and it has been a wonderful experience getting to know the priests, deacons, brothers, employees, volunteers, retreatants, and community members who make this place so special. You learn a lot quickly by answering phones.

One of my favorite volunteer moments was before Christmas, when it was certain that rain was on the way. My son Trey and daughter Kaitlyn, high school students at Brophy and Xavier, came to help. Along with Father Page, we worked quickly to take down chairs that had been set up outside for Mass before the storm came. The kids really enjoyed talking to Father Page, and it was so special to get to know him a little bit better.

We are so lucky to have such a kind, insightful, dynamic, and humble Rector leading us. If you're even thinking about volunteering, I would 100% recommend it. It's so nice to know people of all ages at Mass on Sunday and feel a part of the community. —Alicia Markham, Guest Services Volunteer
